OVERVIEW

The Second in ENSEARCH's series of Forums on Environmental Management will focus on the New Clean Air Regulations 2014. CAR2014 has far reaching consequences on industrial operations for the short term and long term compliances and is expected to be a platform for industry players to understand its implications.

The CAR2014 Forum will also be a platform for consultants to understand the legislative requirements and thus enabling them to explain the compliance requirements better.

The Forum addresses best available technologies on air pollution control, continuous emission monitoring systems available in the market and performance monitoring requirements. It will also be a platform for dialogues on the compliance requirements via the panel discussion with the presence of industry leaders and the regulators.
